MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Fred Unrath.
President Country Club, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

FOR the FAMILY LIKENESS

By MARTHA M'CULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Copyright, 1902, by T. C. McClure.

"She's coming today," Trix Venner said despairingly, looking up from an open letter. Bernice, the eldest Venner, smiled wanly. "I knew it," she said. "Misfortunes never come singly. Cassy, the youngest of them, who had foolish dimples and floss silk curls all over a wise little head, protested mildly: "Don't say that, Berry. I'm sure Cousin Angela means to be very kind."

"She'll nag, nag, nag over our risking that money—I'm sure there was not enough to be worth keeping," Trix said, dropping her head between her hands. Bernice laughed—she had the spirit of them all. "Right you are, Trix," she said. "Still, there's no denying I don't see just how we are to live without the hundred odd dollars' interest it brought."

"Why, somebody, allbodies, must go to work," Trix answered, sighing.

"I'm already in business, raising chickens," Bernice said, smiling whimsically. "Hereafter I shall sell broilers and fresh eggs instead of letting them be eaten at home. You needn't laugh—I can make something out of my chicks—and Trix has at least a chance to be organist at St. Michael's. Cassy must keep house and help me with the brooders. Oh, we shall manage famously without troubling Cousin Ange."

"I hate to trouble her, but there isn't any other way," Cassy said, with her most infantile smile. The other two stared. "You don't mean you are going to live with her—be a companion and dependent?" Bernice cried, red spots flashing out in both cheeks. Cassy patted the red spots softly as she answered: "Oh, no; I'm just going home with her for a visit. She likes to have me at Vendale, because Carter Lee said once we two made such an artistic contrast."

"Why does she not marry him and have done with it, I wonder?" Trix said reflectively. Bernice had turned away her head, the red dying out quicker than it had come to her cheeks. Cassy sat very straight. "That is one of the things I am going to find out."

"CASSY, WHO KEEPS YOU FROM MARRYING RICH?"

she said; then as a thunderous knock sounded: "Talk of angels and Angelas! There she is, as sure as fate!"

Miss Angela Venner, otherwise the family, was heavy in person as in purse. Notwithstanding Bernice, a slender beauty, was so curiously like her, Angela could not help hating her. Undoubtedly it was aggravating to have fate take the same general outline and color scheme, yet from it evolve a creature so exquisite as to make one seem a coarse and dauby caricature. Still, since Miss Venner had really a conscience she greeted Berry more affectionately than the others, even pumping a few tears.

"But don't you worry, Cousin Ange," Bernice said bravely. "We can take care of ourselves."

"Until I am ready to take care of them," Cassy piped; then, smiling up at her rich cousin: "I'm going to marry, you know—marry rich. After that we shall all be happy."

"Indeed! Who is the man?" Miss Venner demanded, half aghast. Cassy smiled more infantinely than ever. "I am not right certain yet," she said. "I am going home with you to find out."

"With all my heart, you ridiculous baby!" Miss Venner said, pinching Cassy's cheek. In her fortnight's stay she made at least fifty separate plans, but went home with Cassy under her wing, assured that her poor cousins were ungratefully bent upon working out salvation in ways of their own devising.

Midsummer always brought Vendale to its best. This especial midsummer it was fairly enchanting. Cassy had been there two months. Carter Lee and his bachelor uncle, the major, had kept things social humming. The two balanced beautifully—Carter had money and willful strength, the major gallant experience. Between them it was no work at all to make Cassy the belle of the countryside. Miss Angela had let them into Cassy's pious purpose and so set them to fetching in the eligibles in herds.

For a young person thus speculatively bent Cassy was no end difficult—so difficult, indeed, Miss Angela begged Carter to take her to task roundly. "She is letting slip the best chances she can ever hope to have," said Cousin Angela. "Refused three men last week to my certain knowledge, each of whom has thousands a year." So Carter lay in wait for Cassy as she went out to the rose garden. For a minute they walked silently along the petal strewn paths; then the man faced about, asking plumply, "Cassy, who keeps you from marrying rich?"

"Carter, who keeps you from marrying rich? You've been engaged, as I have not, this last seven years," Cassy retorted, looking at him sidewise.

He laughed not quite easily. "Don't you know about my engagement?" he asked. "I courted Ange to please my grandmother, who was in love with Vendale. I have not married her—as yet—to please myself."

"I see. Your delay is the reward you allow yourself for diligence," Cassy said, dropping her eyes.

"Stop," Carter said roughly. "You know I love Bernice, who will have nothing to say to me because she thinks I agreed to sell myself and rightly enough despises me."

"If I tell you a secret—two secrets—will you ever tell?" Cassy asked irrelevantly, smiling roguishly. Carter nodded. Again she laughed and put her mouth close to his ear, saying: "I can't whisper; the secret is too big. Major Lee is dead in love with Cousin Ange"—

"O Lord! Cassy, don't joke! It would be too cruel!" Carter gasped.

Cassy ran on as though she had not heard: "He's courting her, too—courting a heap better than ever you did. And she likes it. The only reason she doesn't say 'Yes' offhand is she thinks the loss of her would kill you"—

"Oh, how can I undeceive her?" Carter cried.

Cassy looked at him with lofty compassion. "Don't you think her eyes would be opened if you married somebody else?" she asked.

"You—you said there were two secrets. You don't, you can't mean Berry does not quite hate me?" Carter demanded, trembling as he spoke.

Cassy looked wise. "You have heard all you can bear for one time," she said.

Mrs. Major Lee, born Venner, loves to tell over her romance and commonly wind up with: "It is really too touching. After poor, dear Carter had so nobly stood aside for his uncle he married my cousin because of the family likeness."

Their Last Quarrel.

There could be no excuse for family quarrels if it were not that they are preludes and excuses for happy reconciliations. No honest man will say that he and his better seven-eighths never disagreed, says a writer in the New York Press. I have in mind one brilliant fellow who tells this on himself and his wife in deepest confidence: "We had our little after dinner spat, as usual. She vowed she was going home to her mother, who lived only two blocks away. I swore I was going to the club and stay all night. The five children of our happy union were asleep. The servants had gone to a ball. She got out of the front door a little ahead of me and started east. I went west. At the corner I looked back out of the slant of my eye and saw her standing still in the middle of the next block. After a little hesitation she walked back. I said, 'Quite a moon tonight.' 'Why don't you open the door?' she ripped out. 'Because my keys are upstairs,' I replied. 'Why, so are mine!' she cried. Well, I had to climb a tree and open the window on the third floor before we got in. And we haven't quarreled since."

The King of Bells.

The Czar, or king of bells, as the Russians call it, is in the Kremlin at Moscow, and, in spite of one or two other claimants for the title, it is undoubtedly the largest bell in the world. It was cast in 1733 by order of the Empress Anne. There is no record of its ever having been hung. It was found imbedded in the earth where it had fallen and was excavated and set in position by order of the Emperor Nicholas in 1830.

It is 19 feet 3½ inches high and weighs 432,000 pounds. It is said there were more than 2,000 tons of bronze melted for its casting.

The king stands in the middle of a square on a base of granite and looks like a great bronze tent. A fragment broken off from it lies near the tower of Ivan Veliki. It is used as a chapel, the fissure being so great that a man may walk through without lowering his head. It is a beautiful piece of work, and its tone is said to have been particularly sweet. The sides sweep out in a broad and mighty curve and are encircled with a top and lower border of artistic merit.

A Good Enough Excuse.

A memorable instance of presence of mind was the adventure of a certain Desaugiers at the time of a popular uprising in Paris, when the people took possession of the Tuileries. The hero of the incident sagely acted upon the theory that a poor excuse is better than none and sometimes better than a better one would be.

He was an inquisitive person, and regardless of the danger he hastened to the Tuileries at midnight to see what was going on. At the gate he was stopped by two revolutionists of ominous appearance. "Why do you not wear a cockade, citizen? Where is your cockade?" they asked.

A mob gathered about him and demanded fiercely, "Citizen, where is your cockade?"

Desaugiers took off his hat, turned it around and around, looked at it on all sides and then said in a tone of mild surprise:

"Citizens, it is strange, very strange I must have left it on my nightcap."

"I had scrofula and erysipelas for eighteen years, until I heard

Of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Hilery Koons, of Queens, W. Va. "When I commenced to take this medicine I weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and three vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am glad to say I feel like a new man. I now weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds. When I had used one bottle of the medicine I could feel it was helping me. I realize Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine on earth."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It cures scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

An Architectural Curiosity.

There are many churches throughout England which are without tower or spire, but there are few churches which can boast of having a tower and spire side by side. One of these is the parish church of Ormskirk in Lancashire. The tower is built over the porch at the west end, and the spire is placed as closely as possible to it. The origin of this architectural freak has not been ascertained, but there is a tradition to the effect that when Orme, the Saxon pirate from whom the town derives its name, decided to construct a kirk, or church, as an expiatory offering for his evil deeds his two daughters quarreled over the design for the structure. One determined to have a tower, the other was equally resolved to have a steeple.

As neither of them would give way the pirate chief acceded to both their wishes, and the curious may see the tower and spire still keeping watch side by side on the surrounding country.

The "Huntsman's Cup."

The "huntsman's cup," or pitcher plant, is conceded to be one of the earliest, if not the earliest, of the wild flowers of America to become known to Europeans. References occur in relation to it as early at 1570, when a Lisbon physician named Launanus sent it to a contemporary as the leaves of the frankincense tree. It appears that two sailors brought the curious leaves with some resin from the pine trees growing near, and Launanus supposed they belonged together. Much confusion occurred and much wonderment was expressed as to what curious tree with such leaves could be found in America giving such "sweete odoure when the gum was burned," and, strange to say, most attempts to clear up the mystery resulted in greater obscurity.

Freak Calculation.

We all like to puzzle our brains over things which give certain and strange results, but which we cannot explain. Here's a puzzle that puzzles everybody. Take the number of your living brothers, double the amount, add to it three, multiply the result by five, add to it the number of living sisters, multiply the result by ten, add to it the number of deaths of brothers and sisters, subtract 150 from the result. The right hand figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters and the left the number of living brothers.—Canton Saturday Roller.

Young Wasps Fried.

Young wasp grubs fried in butter do not at first sight appear to be the most alluring dish in the world, yet they have been pronounced delicious by those hardy experimenters who have tried them. Fed as they are upon the sweetest juices drawn from fruits and flowers, they naturally possess a delicate flavor. Perhaps the best way to prepare them is to bake them in the comb.—London Tablet.

Profitable Feeding!

It is positive economy to buy the very best feed. You might feed a hen all she can eat on cheap feed and she will never lay an egg. Would you fatten a hog on hay? You might feed a hen until she was as fat as a goose, but fat hens are not good layers. It depends upon the kind of feed you give, whether they will lay enough eggs to return a profit. If you want the hens to lay, you must give them the kind of feed that makes egg production.

If you will feed one meal a day of the year round, many of the hens will lay 200 eggs during the year; but if you go on feeding in the old way, they will not lay one half that many.

Coulson's Egg Food is not expensive. You can buy it nearly as cheap as wheat—only $1.60 per sack in round lots.

The cost of feeding is from 12 to 15 cents per hundred hens, and if you mix other food with it, it would be still less.

Nearly 50 tons a month used by the poultrymen of Sonoma County.

Four weeks ago E. Classen of Penn's grove was getting four eggs a day. He bought half a ton of COULSONS EGG FOOD and gave the hens one meal a day of it, and he now gets 125 eggs a day, and each day more.

Poultrymen who will feed COULSONS EGG FOOD and will keep it up, will find it the very best kind of feed for laying hens.

Healthy hens, more eggs, more money.

Landmarks Fund And Sleepy Sonoma.

It is often remarked that Sonoma is a sleepy town and that even though the houses were actually burning over the devoted heads of its somnolent people they could not be aroused to action. We must confess that it does look that way quite often. Take, for instance, the efforts being made all over the State to raise the necessary funds to purchase and restore California's ancient and historical buildings and to beautify and make attractive to the eye the grounds surrounding those structures, few of which now remain. It is known far and wide that the most accessible to the center of population and the most noted from a historical point of view of these landmarks lies right here in Sonoma, we refer to the San Francisco de Solano Mission buildings on Spain street.

So far no public move has been made in this town to add to the Landmarks Fund, if we except the benefit entertainment given Wednesday evening by the members of Sonoma Valley Council, No. 45, and composed for the most part of young men who do not live in this town at all. As Sonoma is to be one of the very few towns that will reap a direct benefit from the fund started by the Examiner it is about time that the other civic organizations and the people of Sonoma in general were lining up on this Landmarks Fund proposition, to the end that it may not be said to the discredit of our people in the years to come that they failed to do their share toward preserving its notable and historical mission buildings.

Inasmuch as Sonoma is to receive a direct benefit should this laudable undertaking succeed we would suggest that the City Trustees, the Native Sons and the Woman's Club wake up, throw off the lethargy that seems to have taken hold of them and made them so slow—oh, so very slow, in this matter for the betterment of the town—and help this Landmark Fund along.

The purchase and restoration of Sonoma's old Mission buildings means much for the town. They will be enclosed with a neat fence and surrounded with green lawns and bright flowers, and an appropriation will be secured at the next session of our State Legislature to pay the cost of caring for and maintaining the buildings and grounds. This alone will give Sonoma a substantial and attractive improvement, not to mention the many sight-seers who will visit the town at all times of the year to gaze upon the most interesting of all of California's old landmarks.

This argument is made from a commercial standpoint, and we put it that way because very little sentiment pervades the people of this town in matters of that sort. The sentiment of the thing may influence and cause other communities to help the fund along, but surely a dollars-and-cents proposition ought to stir up our people to some kind of action in this Landmarks business.

What Supports The Heart?

The heart is the hardest worked organ of the human body. It beats on an average of seventy times a minute—from the minute of birth to the minute of death. Every half minute or every thirty-second beat the whole of the blood in the body is pumped through the heart, so that the dual heart moves about six tons of blood in each twenty-four hours. On the purity of that blood health depends. On the strength of the heart depends the strength of the body.

The question then is, how can we keep the blood pure and the heart strong? That question answers itself when we know what is the common cause of the blood's impurity, and whence arises the tendency to heart "trouble." What is blood? Blood is only digested food. In proportion as food is nutritious the blood is rich. In proportion as the food is properly digested the blood is pure. Indigested food clogs and corrupts the blood, and indigestion often precedes or attends the first symptoms of heart "trouble." The first necessity to the production of pure blood is that the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition shall be in the perfect working order of sound health, so that the food received into the stomach is properly digested and perfectly assimilated, for the stomach is the vital center of the body. No man is stronger than his stomach, because physical strength is derived from food digested and assimilated. Deaths ascribed to weak heart and "heart failure," therefore, are more properly ascribed to weak stomach and stomach failure.

It is this dependence of the heart upon the stomach which explains the cures of "heart trouble" effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood, eliminating from it the substances which corrupt and poison it. Even this alone would take the strain from the overtaxed heart. But Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery also acts directly upon the heart itself. It strengthens the heart's action. It contains one of the best and most efficient heart tonics known to medical practice, and as a natural consequence the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" has resulted in many notable cures of the heart when it has become involved in disease. It removes the predisposing cause of heart trouble and makes the weak heart strong.

$3,000 forfeit will be cheerfully paid, in lawful money of the United States, by the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if they cannot show the original statements and signatures of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing attesting the superior curative properties of their several medicines, and thus proving the genuineness and reliability of all the multitude of testimonials volunteered by grateful people.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I add my testimony to your list of sufferers who have been helped the same as I have been," writes Mrs. Wm. P. Young, of Trenton, Ontario. "Last January I took a very bad spell and was for ten days and nights suffering pains in my head, neck and jaws, and had faint spells and heart trouble. Was taking five different kinds of medicine from the doctor all at one time. Could not do my housework at all, and stomach troubled me so I could not eat anything without having an uneasy feeling. One day I thought I would give your medicine a trial. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and I feel better now than for years. Can do all the work for seven in family, but before using your medicines I could hardly do any work and could not be left alone, I had been such a sufferer for the last six years. I truly believe that if every poor sufferer would give Dr. Pierce's medicines a fair trial there would not be so many invalids."

"Our little boy, now three and a half years of age had been delicate since birth," writes Mrs. J. A. Shotwell, of East Stroudsburg, Pa., Box 158. "About eighteen months ago an abscess formed in the groin which we had lanced, and it continued to discharge for eight months. We were told an operation would be necessary to stop it. Acting on the advice of friends we began giving our child Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The discharge stopped before he had taken two bottles. He has taken eight bottles and his health now is good."

"For about nine years I suffered with ulcers on my ankle and one on my instep which at times would pain so severely I could not sleep night or day," writes Mrs. J. T. Sefton, of Yatesboro, Pa. "A friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines, which I did, and found great relief. Had only taken one bottle when I could do a hard day's work and could lie down and rest at night without pain. The ulcers are entirely well and I have better health than I have had for about twelve years. Took fifteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and can recommend your medicine to any similar sufferer. I send you sincere thanks, and blessings for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

TREASURE TROVE STORY A CANARD.

Reported Find of $7000 a Put up Job on the Genial Geo. Rodehaver.

The reported unearthing of $7000 in $50-dollar gold slugs at El Laurel, six miles southwest of this place, one day last week, is said to be a canard and originated from a joke perpetrated upon the genial George W. Rodehaver of Petaluma, who formerly owned El Laurel and the broad acres surrounding that well-known roadside resort.

Detective Miles Bolger, the principal of the Curtain Detective Agency of San Francisco, representing the Swift heirs, who now reside in Napa, after investigating the reported find, says there is nothing in it and rather inclines to the belief that it is a "josh" story, circulated by some of Rodehaver's friends for the purpose of exciting him to come forward and lay claim to the mythical treasure trove, which was reported to be a portion of $75,000 or $80,000 buried by pioneer Granville Swift in the early fifties at El Laurel, which in those days was but a small slice of his big ranch, later on the property of Wm. K. Rogers and now owned by the Wickersham estate.

It is said that Rodehaver, when the reported find reached his ears, did just what his practical joker friends expected—cursed his luck for selling the ranch and laid claim to the mythical $7000 in great big fifty-dollar hunks of yellow gold. Be this as it may, detective Bolger takes no stock in the reported find and has advised Congressman Theo. Bell of Napa, attorney for the Swift heirs, who have been hoping without hope some day to recover a portion at least of the old pioneer's buried treasure, that the story is a cruel hoax.

RE-ELECTED HIGH SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

Hon. Robt. Howe Got all the Votes but One.

At the election for School Trustees held in the San Luis district, on Friday afternoon of last week, Hon. Robt. Howe was re elected a High School Trustee, receiving all the votes cast with one exception.

This was a high compliment to a most worthy man and a conscientious High School Trustee. For years Mr. Howe has been the President of our High School Board and as such has made a model presidin officer. Notwithstanding this, a "sneak" fight was made by parties outside of his own district to defeat him, but the one vote recorded against him shows how signally it failed.

Benefit Glen Ellen Sisters' School.

An entertainment and ball will be given in Mervyn Hall, Glen Ellen, on Friday evening, July 3d, for the benefit of the Glen Ellen Sister's School. As the object is a worthy one and the price of admission is only twenty-five cents there will undoubtedly be a large turnout of valley people.

Mr. B. F. Campbell was re-elected School Trustee in this district on Friday of last week without opposition.

SUMMONS CAME VERY SUDDEN.

Thos. R. Church of San Francisco Expires on the Champlin Farm.

Thos. R. Church, a retired business man of San Francisco, aged 76 years, expired very suddenly on the A. W. Champlin ranch, three miles southwest of town, on Wednesday morning last at 8:30 o'clock.

The deceased, who was apparently enjoying fairly good health, arose about 7 o'clock on the morning in question and in reply to a call for breakfast answered, "I will be there in a minute." After waiting a reasonable time, and the old gentleman failing to appear, a member of the family went to his room to see what was detaining him, and was horrified to discover Mr. Church lying prone upon the floor all but dead. Other members of the family were then summoned and while they were in the act of placing him upon a bed the old gentleman expired.

The deceased had been rusticating on the Champlin farm the past eight months, and was frequently visited by his stepchildren, George and A. Buckingham and Miss Edith Buckingham of San Francisco. Mr. Church was a pioneer resident of the metropolis, and about twenty years ago he married Mrs. Buckingham, a wealthy widow, who, upon her death some five or six years ago, left him a comfortable competence.

Coroner Blackburn held an inquest on the remains and a verdict of death from natural causes was rendered by the jury.

Mrs. Champlin accompanied the remains to San Francisco, which were shipped to that place for interment Thursday afternoon.

THE LANDMARKS FUND BENEFIT.

The Young Men's Institute Entertainment and Hop a Success.

The social event of the week was the entertainment and dance given by the Y. M. I., last Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Landmarks fund. This affair was held in Union Hall, which was artistically decorated for the occasion. The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers and tall ferns and was especially noticeable.

A large crowd turned out to patronize a worthy cause and the entertainment, which consisted of vocal selections and clever monologues was greatly enjoyed. The programme was well carried out by San Francisco and local talent.

The entertainment concluded with a laughable sketch, entitled, "The Romance of Three Bachelors."

At the the close of the entertainment dancing was inaugurated, the music being furnished by a stringed orchestra from San Francisco. The floor was ably managed by W. J. Kearney and Emmet Mullen. Later mine host Miller served supper in the large dining room adjoining the hall after which dancing was resumed and continued until 2:30 A. M.

GRASS FIRE IN SUBURBS OF TOWN.

Dwelling and Barn Have a Close Call — Hay Field Devastated.

While a crew of section hands of the California Northwestern Railway were engaged in burning off grass alongside the track of the company in the eastern suburbs of town, last Saturday, a sudden wind sprang up and the fire got beyond their control and spread to a hay field on the north side of the railroad. In a short time the field was dotted with burning hay cocks. From the hay field the fire spread with great rapidily toward a private dwelling and barn belonging to A. Malini. When the flames had all but claimed the dwelling and barn the section hands, aided by a number of volunteers, succeeded in arresting the flames at that point and saving the house and barn. At this juncture the firemen arrived on the scene and endeavored to get the engine to work, but no water being available on the place the firemen left the machine, and joined the wet sack volunteers and did noble work.

By back-fireing the flames were prevented from spreading to Mrs. Snyder's place and adjacent farms.

The loss was slight, being confined to the burned hay cocks valued at about $50. This hay had just been purchased by Mr. Malini and was awaiting the arrival of a hay-baling team. Little or no damage was done to the fencing as the wet sack brigade smothered the burning grass before the fencing could take fire.

Seventy-five dollars will probably more than cover the entire loss. No blame can be attached to the crew of section men for allowing the fire to get beyond their control as the wind that sprung up came suddenly and without warning and instantly converted the small blaze of burning grass into billows of lurid flames that for a time swept everything before them.

Weddings.

Mr. G. W. Reed, station agent of the California Northwestern at this place, and Miss Cora Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perkins, were married in this place Thursday.

Mr. Leon Gouailhardou and Miss Louise Fancon were married in San Francisco last Saturday. The groom is a brother of Mr. P. Gouailhardou of this place, who with his wife were present at the wedding, which was a church affair.

The engagement of Miss Pearl Ogan, formerly of Glen Ellen but now a resident of Santa Rosa, to Chester Speers, has been announced. The reported marriage of the young couple last week was premature. The wedding will take place, however, this summer.

Earthquake.

The people of this place were rudely awakened from their slumbers at 5:20 o'clock last Thursday morning by two shocks of earthquake—one following immediately upon the other. The vibrations were not so severe as has been felt on many previous visitations, but they lasted an uncomfortably long time.

A Card from Mr. Albert Geisselmann.

ED. INDEX-TRIBUNE:

Allow me to express, through the columns of your valuable paper my sincere thanks to the voters of Flowery School District for electing me as one of the School Trustees at the election held June 5th.

I never did try for any public office before, whether for honor or salary, but as I was good enough to fill the six months vacancy of Mr. M. Zoberbier, resigned, I thought I could fill the office for a regular term also.

Although the majority gained over my opponent is very small—only two votes—I feel very proud of my election, considering that a personal enemy (an enemy who does not know why he is an enemy) and who has been working secretly to injure my character and cause my defeat at the polls. This party does not even belong in this school district and has no right to vote here.

Taking it all in all, I repeat that I am proud of my election as a School Trustee and once more thank those who placed me there by their votes. ALBERT GEISSELMAN.

COMMENCEMENT SONOMA HIGH SCHOOL.

Class of '03 Receive Diplomas --- Flowers and Congratulations.

Union Hall was the scene of much gaiety on Friday evening of last week, being filled to overflowing long before the time set for the class of '93, Sonoma Valley Union High School, to make its appearance before the public.

The hall was beautifully decorated with the class colors—light blue and gold—evergreens, palms and flowers.

The invocation was made by the Rev. Chas. Kirtland, after which the first of the sweet girl graduates on the program, Miss Nellie Gordenker, came forward and delivered the salutatory in a very pleasing manner. Roy Pauli, the President of the class, followed. "Outward Bound" was the subject of his well-prepared address. Then came J. Russel Morris, who told us of a "Neglected Pleasure," and Eugene Hunt discussed the "Advantages of an Industrial Education." Jack Knight was the class historian and made the history brief but decidedly to the point. Miss Evelyn Waugaman delivered the class prophecy in a very creditable manner and as she prophesied we may expect great things of the class of '03 in the future. Miss Gertrude Lane, the class valedictorian, showed deep thought and study in handling her subject. The Alumni address was delivered in a very able manner by Horace Appleton of the class of 1900. Prof. Smith and Miss Jewett both made very appropriate remarks. Mr. Benj. Weed delivered the address to the graduating class and presented the diplomas to the following graduates: Miss Evelyn Waugaman, Miss Gertrude Lane, Miss Nell Gordenker, Eugene Hunt, John L. Knight, J. Russel Morris and Roy A. Pauli.

The costumes of the young lady graduates were very pretty and appropriate. Miss Gordenker was attired in a very dainty gown of white organdy. Miss Waugaman also wore a pretty white organdy trimmed with silk appleque, and Miss Lane was gowned in a cream crepe de chene.

Miss Hettie Eastman gave the class a pleasant surprise by reading a "Toast to the Class of '93."

At the conclusion of the ceremonies hearty congratulations and beautiful flowers were showered upon the young graduates.

Every one joins in wishing them great success in life.

The exercises were followed with a social hop, the music being furnished by Newberg & Smith of Petaluma.

Formal Opening

The opening party given last Saturday evening at the New City Hotel was a great success. A large number of our society party going people were present and greatly enjoyed the dancing which, with a fine supper, were the principal features of the evening. A string orchestra from San Francisco furnished the music and the dancing room was artistically decorated with greens and flowers.

During the evening Mr. A. Biagi rendered several beautiful selections from the opera Il Trovitore, which was a rare treat for those present.

At 12 o'clock an elegant spread was served on the broad veranda which was enclosed with greens and arsistically decorated and lighted with Japanese lanterns and electric lights. The tables, running the entire length of the veranda, were beautifully adorned with choice cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli, the owners, deserve considerable credit for the delightful manner in which the affair passed off.

PERSONAL MENTION

Herbert Munfrey and Miss Belloli of San Jose were married last Sunday. The young couple are here visiting relatives.

Frank M. Burris, assistant cashier of the Santa Rosa Bank, was in town Wednesday and took in the Landmarks benefit entertainment and hop given by the Young Men's Institute. Mr. Burris left Thursday evening on the Southern Pacific for Traver where he will spend ten days on the Burris ranch, the guest of his brothers, Joshua, Walter, Henry and Ed. Burris, who are making their home on the big ranch at the present time.

GLEN ELLEN

By Chappie.

Mrs. H. Martens spent Monday in Sonoma shopping.

Mrs. I. M. Merlin-jones made a trip to Sonoma Wednesday.

Mrs. J. W. Reed is again at her ranch after quite a long visit with friends in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. McMullen of San Francisco are visitors of Mr. E. B. Payne in his unique octagon cottage in Bennett valley.

Mrs. A. M. Abbott and family, Mrs. Lindener and Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevens, all of San Francisco, are registered at the Riverside.

Ed. Skahan visited Santa Rosa Monday. Ed. is a live man and has full scope for his abilities now that the campers have come.

George Webb and Harry Hansen, connected with a wholesale drug store in San Francisco, are taking their outing in this burg and stopping at the Riverside.

The ranchers are now busy harvesting their hay of which they will have a fairly good crop. The continued dry weather has affected it somewhat. Still it averages up well.

Supervisor Blair Hart visited this place Wednesday to inspect the new oiled road. He expressed himself as well satisfied and pleased with its condition, which is daily growing better.

Fruit most delicious and abundant abounds in our valley. This is the banner county of California for productiveness. Even in a dry season we suffer less from drouth than any other part of State.

Quite a jolly little outing party from the Cottage Hotel, chaperoned by Mrs Gender, passed a very pleasant day picnicing in Nun's Canyon. A big string of mountain trout spoke volumes for their skill as anglers.

The park is filling up rapidly with campers. All is life and merriment. Children, free from the restraint of school rooms, enjoy the ont-of-door life under the shade trees and swimming in the creek, and the older ones give themselves up to the idyl of a summer day.

There will be a special meeting of the Dunbar Improvement Club at Mervyn Hall, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, June 13th, to confer with the representatives of the Woman's Club to divise some means of assisting them in their Fourth of July celebration. All are invited to attend. This is a very worthy cause and every one should do what they can to help the thing along. It is very praiseworthy for the two places to unite in friendly, cordial feelings in celebrating this, the most patriotic day in the year. We should all show our respect for the liberty and freedom we enjoy under the grandest government that ever existed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Froment gave a delightful masquerade party to their friends last Friday evening. The elite of Glen Ellen was well represented. Mr. Henry Chauvet, as a tramp, carried the house by storm and acted his part to perfection. Mrs. Chauvet, with her slate and books and studious attention to them, was true to life and made an ideal representative of a little country school girl. The ubiquitious "Happy Hooligan" was also in attendance in all his grotesqueness, being personated by our postmaster who filled the bill as only a few can. Miss Shirley Cornish shaded her beauty behind a black mask. Many others wore masks and dominoes. Mrs. Katzenjammer failed to make connections but will be there next time. Refreshments most delicious, served in an exquisite manner, rounded out one of the jolliest and happiest evenings imaginable.

Dr. Bernard Will be in Town Next Monday.

Dr. Bernard, the noted eye specialist of San Francisco, who has an office in the Union Hotel, will return from the metropolis Monday to resume the treatment of those suffering from any affection of the eyes. During his late brief visits to this place he has been consulted by many prominent people in this valley, among others by ex-Supervisor Thompson, whom he has successfully treated and to whom he would respectfully refer. *

Buffalo-Bohemian Beer is the popular drink. *

EL VERANO.

By Gloomy Gus.

A. W. Weaver has returned from the mines in Tuolumne county.

John McGill, foreman of the E. T. Allen ranch, was here Thursday.

A. M. Barley transacted business in the metropolis of the valley last Tuesday.

Thos. Mackey, wife and family of San Francisco are registered at the Bellevue Hotel.

Frank Ferrigero has sold his ranch near this place and will soon remove to Petaluma.

Joe Murphy, a rising young citizen of this burg, made a trip to Milpitas the fore part of the week.

It is rumored that the Fourth of July will be celebrated in this place with a picnic in Maxwell's grove and other features.

Louis Kearney came down from the County Farm last Wednesday evening and attended the Landmarks Fund benefit in Sonoma.

There are two barber shops in this town and it is said a free opening is contemplated by one of them in order to encourage shaving among the feathery-faced over this way.

A large crowd from here took in the entertainment and dance given by the Y. M. I. in Sonoma Wednesday. It was pronounced by those who attended to have been one of the best entertainments that ever struck the sleepy town.

Billy Chance was a visitor in San Francisco Saturday. While in the city he purchased a new set of harness, which shows that Billy is a buyer from the word go. If you need a new harness see him before making your purchase and he will put you wise.

The quiet of our town was rudely disturbed Sunday night last by a free fight on the county road near here. The fight lasted until one of the combatants was knocked down and out. After much excitement the vanquished pugilist was brought to. It is reported that the belligerents will again try conclusions Friday night before the El Verano Athletic Club.

"Happy Hooligan," erstwhile correspondent at this place for the INDEX-TRIBUNE, has returned home after a brief absence bringing with quite a sack of coin. It is said he will now invest in a newspaper plant which he will set up in this burg. It will be named the "El Verano Cyclone." Happy will run his power press with water power piped from the Lewis system and will also conduct an undertaker establishment in conjunction with his contemplated newspaper for the convenience of the relatives of those who happen in to mop the floor with the editor.

Alumni Banquet

Last Saturday evening the Alumni of the Sonoma High School held its annual reunion and banquet at the Union Hotel, the graduating class being the guests of honor. The banquet was in every way a decided success. Quite a number of former graduates came from various places to be present at the festive board. Wm. Clewe of '96 acted as toast master and Miss Marcella Glazier, President of the Alumni, welcomed the guests. Miss Celeste Granice of the class of '97 composed a very pretty toast to the absent members of the Alumni. Roy Pauli spoke in behalf of the graduates and Miss Jewett, Mr. Ben Weed and Mr. Smith also delivered addresses and were well received. Mr. Robt. Hill spoke on behalf of the High School Trustees and Mrs. Hill in behalf of the wives of the Trustees.

After the banquet the guests took possession of Union Hall and spent several hours "tripping the light fantastic."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

THE ABUSE OF SOCIETY.

A Titled Lady Makes a Few Pertinent Remarks on the Subject.

The abuse of society is a favorite occupation with most people who cannot force an entrance into it. It is not even new. Cynics and satirists, preachers and writers have waged war on social amenities all down the ages. We know how Daniel denounced the Babylonian court and how Horace revealed the profligacy of Augustan Rome. Every leader of a regenerating movement, whether it be St. Bernard exhorting to crusades, St. Francis teaching Utopian poverty or John Knox preaching reformation, has denounced the easy morals and the easier standard of the toleration of current society. The reformers of every age denounce their own contemporaries in accents of varying degrees of violence. Rousseau and Voltaire poured out diatribes from differeent points of view against the frivolous society which was cut off so abruptly by the guillotine, but their denunciations fell on deaf ears. "Nobody," said Talleyrand, "could have any conception of how pleasant society could be who had not lived before the French revolution." To reform those who will not be reformed is difficult. The grandmother of Ambrosine, holding a scented pocket handkerchief to her nose to keep off the odor of the crowd as she tripped to the guillotine, and Mary, queen of Scots, yawning in the face of Knox, exactly typify the attitude of all ages toward the Jeremiahs hammering at the portals of society.—A Countess in London Outlook.

Musk.

Musk in the raw looks a good deal like axle grease and smells worse. The popular notion that the musk of commerce is obtained from the muskrat is a mistake. There is obtained a somewhat similar perfume from the muskrat, but most of the supply comes from the musk deer, a creature that is carefully reared in India for the sake of the secretion. The secretion is shipped in the crude state and is used not only in the manufacture of the liquid perfume sold as musk, but also in very small quantities to give strength and staying power to many perfumes made from the essential oils of flowers.

Curiously enough, the blossoms of two native plants have a noticeably musky odor. One is the small yellow blossom of a creeping vine known as the musk plant. Its odor is marked and is counterfeited in the commercial perfume called musk. The other is the bloodroot. The pure white blossom of that early spring plant has a distinct though delicate musky odor. A bean known as the musk bean is a cheap substitute for animal musk.

Instinctive Fear In Birds.

The instinctive fear of death manifested by birds is shown by the following: A canary died, was buried, the nesting place broken up, the surviving mate removed to a new cage and the old cage thoroughly cleaned and put aside till the following spring. Never, however, could any bird afterward endure being placed in that cage. They fought and struggled to get out, and if all in vain their efforts they moped, huddling close together, thoroughly unhappy, refusing to be comforted by any amount of sunshine, companionship or dainty food. The experiment was tried with foreign birds that had not been in the house when the death occurred and could not therefore have known of the event by observation. But the result was always the same. For the future that cage was haunted.—Popular Science.

How It Really Happens.

"Johnny," cautiously inquired Mr. Sixaweek of her little brother when he called the other evening—"she" was putting the finishing touches to her toilet upstairs—"have you—er does you—er—do you—er—ever hear your sister speak of me?"

"You can't pump me," promptly replied Johnny. "I don't butt into my sister's business."

Then Johnny picked up a shinney stick out of the hall rack and went out.

This is the way it happens in 999 cases out of 1,000, but the funnyists could never be clubbed into believing it.—Washington Post.

Sleepy Railway Travelers.

To sleep at any moment is undoubtedly a sign of physical soundness and Philistine sanity, especially in the matter of the brain and its functions. A physician would have little anxiety about the general condition of a patient who could sleep at will on a railway journey. In these days of hurry and bustle there could be no more encouraging sight to the philosopher than a railway carriage at noonday full of sleepy passengers.—Medical Press and Circular.

The Boston Boy.

Little Tommy—Can I eat another piece of pie?

Mamma (witheringly)—I suppose you can.

Tommy—Well, may I?

Mamma—No, dear, you may not.

Tommy—Darn grammar, anyway!—Lippincott's.

Too Attractive.

"And here," said the salesman, "is a very fine umbrella. The handle, you will observe, is especially attractive."

"That's just what I want to avoid. Every umbrella I ever owned has been entirely too attractive."

One Reason Why.

"She is very bright for one who has just lost her husband."

"That's so; but you must remember that she is in the honeymoon of her widowhood."

After crosses and losses men grow humbler and wiser.—Franklin.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.)

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by F. Duhring. *
